

Scribe

by Joshua Polansky

Creating fine art requires the tools of a master craftsman. Engraving or etching into hard surfaces requires the finest of instruments. Rotary instruments cannot create the subtle, gauze like, delicate surface texture found in nature. Only the hand with a suitably precise instrument can get that close to nature. The new Scribe is such an instrument.

Specifically designed to draw and carve on delicate ceramic surfaces, the Scribe can produce the finest lines and demarcations in your ceramic restorations. Surface texture can set your restorations apart from the other ceramists. The Scribe can be used on any dental medium including wax, composite and acrylic.
